THE PRESENTATION OF SILVER SERVICE

To Battleship New Hampshire Arranged By Governor Floyd

Ceremony Will Be Held At Two O'clock, Saturday, Aug. 8--Programme For Celebration

The official programme for the presentation of the silver service to the battleship New Hampshire was arranged on Friday by Governor C. M. Floyd and while it is subject to changes it will be as Governor Floyd gave it to the Herald before he left this city.

The programme calls for the arrival of Governor Floyd and his official party at the Wentworth hotel on Friday August 7th, where they will make their headquarters until the following Monday.

Friday noon (M). General H. B. Ciley will call on Captain Winslow of the U. S. S. New Hampshire and present the greetings of Governor Floyd. Captain Winslow will return the call on Governor Floyd at the Wentworth at 2.30 that same afternoon.

Friday evening from 8.30 to 10.30 Col. H. Clinton Taylor of the Governor's staff will tender a reception to Governor Floyd and party, Captain Winslow and staff, and Captain Moore and staff of the navy yard at his residence at No. 11 Islington street.

Saturday morning there will be nothing official other than sightseeing and drives about the city.

At two o'clock in the afternoon the presentation of the silver service will be made on board the battleship New Hampshire. It will be by invitation and about $90 will be issued by the Governor to the prominent citizens of the state. The Governor and official party will leave the Wentworth on steam cutters from the navy yard and the ship, and the other guests will go by steamer from this city. The presentation will be made by Governor Floyd and be accepted by Captain Winslow, and there will be quite a little ceremony connected with it.

Saturday evening there will be a reception and ball at the hotel Wentworth.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday the battleship will be thrown open to visitors.

Monday the presentation of the stand of colors by the New Hampshire Daughters of the American Revolution, will be made and at the same time the New Hampshire Christian Temperance Union will present the comfort bags they have made for the crew of the big ship.

Monday night there will be a search light drill.

Tuesday the officers of the New Hampshire and special guests will take an Automobile trip from this city to Manchester, where the officers will be shown over the big mills and

ACTUAL BURGLARY AT THE WIGGIN SALOON

Attempt Succeeded At This Place but the Thieves Got Little

The saloon of John H. Wiggins at the corner of Deer and Bridge streets was entered by burglars some time Friday night or early this morning.

It appears that the thieves were after money and they got but a little. The cash register, which was open, was rifled and also a small safe near the Deer street window. From the cash register they took a ring and a few coppers. There was nothing in the safe of any value to the thieves, but they thoroughly searched the vault, leaving the contents of papers and bills on the floor. Outside of a few bottles of liquor and the ring nothing was found missing. Entrance was gained through a window on the Bridge street side of the building by forcing it open with a bar or chisel.

BOLD ATTEMPT AT BURGLARY

Window In Rear Percy Rowe's Saloon On Vaughan Street Smashed

A bold attempt was made a few minutes after twelve o'clock last night to break into the saloon of Percy Rowe on Vaughan street, but it was unsuccessful and they fled when they heard officer Quinn coming.

The officer was standing on the corner of Vaughan and Congress streets when he heard glass breaking in the rear of Freeman's block. He ran down the street and into the sal-way, but the burglars evidently heard him coming for they flew.

An investigation showed that a Jimmy had been used on the rear window and it had been forced up about four inches before the glass broke.

Officers Anderson and Ducker were sent down and a search made of the neighborhood but no trace of the burglars could be found.

STILL THEY COME

A Sudbury Street Resident Looking for a Brush on the Turf

If those sports at the Creek who are backing High Ball and other noted steeds want to tear up the turf against a fancy stepper they will do well to hunt up George Parks of Sudbury street, the owner of Wizard, and fight out for the honors of the track.

Wizard is a new comer in this locality and has a record for beating out automobiles and several of the quick moving animals at Readville. He has good backing and if the West End sports want to do business they had better produce the long green and put High Ball in training at the Stoddard farm at once.

AT THE NAVY YARD

Lieut. Edward B. Cole is on business today in Portland.

Another tug or a coal barge should be started in the shiphouse.

With the completion of the scout cruiser Salem on July 27 the prospect seems good for holding the proposed efficiency trial of that ship.

BIG GRANGE PICNIC

August 12 at Stratham Hill Park for Rockingham County

The union picnic of subordinate granges in Rockingham county will be held at Stratham Hill Park Aug. 12. It will begin at ten o'clock in the forenoon and last throughout the day. Baseball and other sports, besides singing will constitute the program.

Addresses will be given by Rev. E. J. Prescott of Rockland, Mass., and Rev. E. C. E. Dorton of Plymouth. A basket dinner, lemonade and ice cream will complete the refreshment list.

The committees are: Baseball, Thornton N. Weeks of Greenland; croquet, Mrs. C. W. Brewster of Stratham; lemonade, C. W. Rodgers of Exeter; ice cream, C. W. Barker of Exeter; speakers, Dr. A. T. Sevance of Exeter; ice cream, Charles W. Brackett of Greenland; music, Mrs. Jenkins of Exeter and Mrs. Brewster of Stratham; on grounds, D. W. Baker of Exeter; drinking cups, Mrs. B. M. Mack of Hampton.

YORK BEACH

August 8 at 8.30 o'clock an entertainment will be given at the town hall consisting of illustrated songs, fancy dances and stereopticon views. The entertainment will be under the management of the Village Improvement Society, and the object is to raise funds in order to buy a large gasoline spraying machine and hose to spray and thereby preserve the woodland.

Arrivals at Young's Hotel are Mrs. Harry Haddock and Ernest Haddock, Portsmouth; Mrs. A. F. Chaffs, Margaret Chaffs and Charlotte White, Concord.

Guests at the Wabbits from Nashua are Mrs. E. J. Thurber and David Eaton.

P. P. Boyd of Manchester is a guest at the Wabbits.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hobbs of Hampton are at the Fairmount.

Kenneth Sawyer of Manchester is at the beach.

W. S. Wheeler of Cofftown is at the Kearsarge.

Mrs. Margaret L. Hook of Pittsfield is at the beach.

A. J. Moquin of Manchester is staying at the Kearsarge.

Mrs. A. S. Buntan and daughter Doris of Manchester are passing a fortnight here.

Mrs. M. M. Holbrook and daughter of Manchester are at the beach.

A. L. Howe and child of Manchester are here.

York Beach defeated Portsmouth baseballists Friday, six to one. McLaughlin kept up his good stick work of the past two days by knocking out two triples. Light pitched a steady game, pulling out of several bad holes. Laddy, McLane and Rafferty also did good work. For the losers Barnstead and Merrill played well, the latter making a fine running catch.

Henry Concannon, a lad about seven years of age, met with quite a serious accident a few days ago. While playing with several companions in a barn belonging to Wallace Goss of Rye, young Concannon fell and broke his arm.

The Saturday night hops at the Farragut are proving very popular, as in past seasons.

Mrs. Charles Philbrick and children of Rye have gone to Newfoundland to pass the summer.

Mr. Fenwick, pastor of the Rye Christian church, is away on his annual vacation.

Mrs. Hogue of Boston is occupying her cottage at Foss Beach for the summer.

Mrs. Jones is the guest of Mrs. Morrill at her summer home, North Rye Beach.

Within twenty-four hours the long freedom from death was broken by two deaths, both of aged people.

Thursday evening, occurred the demise of Samuel S. Hodgdon, Jr., at his home on Union street. He was a veteran of the Civil War, having served an active period of service in the Sixth New Hampshire regiment. He enlisted Oct. 22, 1861, at the age of 22 years, and was mustered in on Nov. 27 of that year. At the second battle of Bull Run, he was wounded and discharged on disability Jan. 28, 1862. He was born in Exeter in 1839, and had lived here a greater part of his life. Of recent years he had been afflicted with eye-sight, and had been confined to his bed the greater part of the time. No relatives survive him.

Shortly following this death occurred that of Mrs. Mary Ann Fieldsend on High street. She had been a resident here for several years. Her age was some over eighty years. She was born in Scotland, but came to this country when young. A step-son, Joshua Fieldsend of Broomfield, and a step-grandson, Charles Fieldsend of this town, survive her.

Mrs. Dora P. Walker and daughter, Mrs. Rufus P. Williams of Cambridge, Mass., are spending a few weeks at Stratford-on-Avon, Rockport, Mass.

The engagement of Miss Marie Louise Smart of this town to Frank Wendell Peterson of Amesbury, Mass., is announced.

Miss Marion I. Fogg is spending a vacation at Hampton Beach. Ralph E. Meras has been chosen a delegate to the national prohibition convention at Columbus, O.

Robert A. Burlingame has entered the employ of the Bethlehem Steel Company at South Bethlehem, Pa.

Mrs. Anna Lyford Ellis of Minneapolis, Minn., is visiting her sister, Mrs. George E. Eastman.

Blueberries are reported to be very plentiful and of a fine quality this season in the neighboring towns. Raspberries, too, are growing in large quantities.

The preachers at the People's Methodist church for the month of August have been chosen as follows: Aug. 2, Rev. D. B. Dow, Rochester; Aug. 9, Rev. W. J. Williams, Sanbornville; Aug. 16, Rev. W. A. Hudson of Milton Mills in the morning and Rev. Dr. J. H. Robinson of the New Hampshire Anti-Slavery League in the evening; Aug. 23, Rev. H. H. Dore will speak on "How I Spent My Vacation."

PORTSMOUTH BRANCH

Plymouth Business School

The Portsmouth Branch of the Plymouth Business School closed for the summer vacation at the end of the school session yesterday. The school has had a good attendance, having had upwards of thirty pupils in the day and evening sessions. The applications already received for admission for the Fall Term indicate a much larger attendance the coming year. Owing to the opening of the school late in November last, the pupils of the present class will not complete their course until the coming fall. Specimens of the pupils' penmanship taken before and after receiving instruction in the school, which have been placed upon exhibition in the windows of Dunham & Store's, Page's, Hoyt & Dow's, Beane's and McIntire's stores, show a remarkable improvement. The Fall Term begins Wednesday, Sept. 12th.

THIS FOR YOU

There is only one way to obtain a clear transparent and flawless complexion; massage treatment makes the flesh pliable, the so-called beauty creams containing oily or other greasy substances, fill up the pores of the skin, preventing them from doing their work properly, and also induce the growth of a fine, fuzzy hair on the face. If you would have a face entirely free from pimples, blotches, freckles, blackheads and kindred diseases of the skin, get the following prescription put up at any reliable Drug Store and your troubles will soon be over.

Clearola one-half ounce, Ether one ounce, Alcohol seven ounces. Mix, Shake well and apply to the face night and morning allowing it to remain at least ten minutes, the longer, the quicker results you will have. In extreme cases apply four or five times daily.

The flaky powder deposits on the face may be wiped off after a reasonable time. Do not use any soap, instead wash the face with oatmeal and a little powderedorris root tied up in a cheese cloth bag, and no matter how bad your face is, or what the cause may have been, this will surely cure it. This prescription is perfectly harmless and can be used on the most delicate skin.

TAKES UP VENEZUELA AFFAIR

President Has Conference With Secretary Root

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 25—An important conference between the President, Secretary of State Root and the acting secretary, Robert Bacon, was held at Sagamore Hill Friday, at which it is believed the delicate state of affairs in Central America was discussed.

No official statement was given out but the situation that has arisen between Venezuela and the United States and between the South American republic and the Netherlands undoubtedly was one of the matters discussed.

The revolt in Honduras and the possibility of Salvador and Guatemala becoming involved in that trouble also is thought to have been taken up, as the United States, with Mexico, is bound by treaty to maintain peace between the Central American republics.

RELEASED ON DEATH MISSION.

Italian Lover's Vengeance Aided by a Jailer.

Giuseppe Sero, a workman, aged 25, was arrested some weeks ago at Bari, Italy, for a burglary in which he was implicated and sentenced to four months' imprisonment.

He spent the first part of his imprisonment in counting the days until his release, when he would be married to his sweetheart, who had sworn that she would never forsake him.

But one day the jailer told him that the marriage banns of the girl and another man had been published.

Sero was terribly upset, and declared that he would rather see the girl dead than married to anyone else. The jailer later agreed that he was right, and after some hesitation he acceded to the prisoner's request to let him go and kill her.

Sero swore solemnly that he would not carry out his mission longer than was necessary for the deed, and the jailer released him to fulfill the noble duty of a lover.

Sero returned to prison a couple of hours later. He had stabbed the girl dead, and was content to await his own further punishment. The jailer has been arrested.

APPEAL TO VANITY SUCCEEDED.

Idea of Church Worker Has Greatly Increased Collections.

Here is a story of a church worker who stands a pretty good show of some day becoming secretary of the United States treasury. He serves in a church that is popular with young men. Shortly after he assumed the duties of usher there was an apparent increase in the general collections. At the same time it was noticed that the young men who attended church singly or in pairs were seated, whenever it was possible, in a pew where there was at least one good-looking girl. At first it was thought that this circumstance might indicate a possible connection on the young man's part with a matrimonial agency, but that suggestion was denied indignantly.

"If you'll just watch the collections," he said, "you'll know why I seat them so. I've kept an eye on these co-educational pews and I find that any man will contribute twice as much money to the church when there is a young woman sitting beside him to see how much he gives. Propriety may in some such cases promote matrimony, but that is not my lookout. It is the collections I am interested in."

Her Trouble.

Old Mrs. Steth was a chronic complainer and was constantly sending for the family physician and giving him a list of her fancied ailments. He always listened quite patiently, but was getting a little tired of hearing the same things over and over.

One day when the old lady considered herself in an unusually bad way she sent for the doctor, and, after going over the usual list, ended by saying: "Really, doctor, I do not know what in the world is wrong with me. I can neither lay nor set."

The doctor looked at her a moment, then said in a solemn tone: "Madam, you must be a monster."

Work Uplifts.

All business and all work should lift up, and not hold down; it should make free, and not enslave; it should ennoble, and not degrade. It is as honorable to make shoes or anchors as it is to paint pictures or write books. The shoemaker should learn the secret through his work of finding the sandals of mankind for his own feet. The blacksmith should learn, through the making of anchors for his great ships, to find the anchor that is to hold his own soul to the truth amid the storms of life.—Rev. J. W. Lee, D. D.

Flattered.

"What are you looking so pleased about?" asked one shade of another.

"Well," replied the one addressed, with the ghost of a chuckle, "I took a little trip back to the old home and saw what was on my tombstone."

With an unconscious puffing of his plunger he passed on.

AFFAIR FOR FAMILY

WASHING HEADSTONES IN COUNTRY GRAVEYARDS.

Matter of Routine for Which One Day in the Year Was Set Apart—Some Lots Left in Neglect.

The well-ordered city cemetery offers a sharp contrast to the cemetery of the countryside—the one laid out regularly by a landscape architect and kept continually spruced up by the labor of many gardeners; the other a wilderness usually, where trees and briars and vines grow as they will, says the New York Sun.

So when a man whose early days were spent in the country views greenwood or Woodlawn or other less pretentious cemeteries his mind goes back to the graveyard he knew. It lay, and still lies, on a hillside where the sun came oftener; a wall of stones piled unevenly surrounded it. Within the paths ran crookedly this way and that, bordered by wild rose and honeysuckle and the weeping willow, scattered in nature's splendid disorder.

But he remembers that most of the tombstones gleamed just as white in the sunlight as do the more elaborate tombstones he is contemplating. Of course in the city the men attached to the cemeteries see that the tombstones are kept clean.

How was it in the country? Surely the aged sexton who dug the graves didn't take care of them after the last words of the burial service had been said.

So he recalls that each family looked after its own burial plot, not in haphazard fashion but as a matter of routine. There wasn't much sentiment in the performance; it was part of the year's work.

A day in the spring, he recalls, was set apart for this duty. If you lived at a distance it was quite an undertaking.

The wagon was loaded up with gardening tools and scrubbing brushes and soap and a big wash boiler. At the house nearest the cemetery you called and put this boiler filled with hot water. He recalls that the water stopped over on his bare feet as the wagon pursued an uneven course through the burying ground.

The first thing was to give each marble headstone a thorough scrubbing with soap and water. Then a little rough gardening was done, not enough to give the graves a trim appearance, but sufficient to mark each from its neighbors.

It was the custom of all the countryside to keep the headstones bright, and many persons could be seen working energetically with scrubbing brushes on any early spring-day. But some graves were neglected, he recalls; all the family had died or moved away and the graves they deserted were fast being covered from sight in riot of briar and tangled grass.

It must be that the graves of his ancestors were that way now, for all his kin not dead had found homes elsewhere on the earth. There lines from Longfellow's "Mortuary Sublimities" come to his mind:

Each at some well remembered grave will kneel
And from the inscription wipe the weeds
And moss
For every heart best knoweth its own loss.

Uses of Olive Oil.

Not every one realizes the medicinal properties of olive oil. It is quite true that the machinery of the body needs oiling occasionally, like any mechanical machine, which is constantly in use, and olive oil, taken internally, will be exceedingly beneficial. A tablespoonful will aid the digestion and ease liver trouble. This oil should be served frequently as a dressing and is not only pleasant on vegetables, but serves as an appetizer as well. Taken internally, either with salads or alone, it is beneficial for catarrh of the stomach or throat. It is known to be a great help in cases of run-down nervous system and loss of weight. It should be rubbed well into the skin, the entire body being massaged with the oil, particularly the spine. After massaging with olive oil use a Turkish towel, rubbing well over the body. As a preventive of colds mix it with quinine and rub on the chest and back. It can also be applied mixed with camphor to cure coldness of the throat.

A Metaphor with a History.

To "know a hawk from a heronshaw" is a metaphor with a curious history. It is a comparison drawn from falconry. "Heronshaw" is a corruption of "heronshaw" or young heron, a bird which was a common prey of the falcons. To know a hawk from a heronshaw therefore is to be able to distinguish the falcon from its prey. A further corruption of the phrase into the phrase "know a hawk from a hand saw" is a term used by Hamlet in one place. Possibly the distinction between a hawk and a heronshaw was found not to be strong enough for the purposes of the proverb.

Inconsistent Way of Showing It.

"Smith, when I have not spoken to for six months, met me in the street today, and in the most nonchalant way, asked me if it was not enough for me."

"Well, the cold hand of the fellow!"—Pittsburgh Courier.

THE PLUG HAT OF JAPAN.

Titles of the Vintage of Fifty Years Ago Make the Mikado's Subjects Proud.

"There is one style which you must not miss when you go to Tokyo," said the seasoned traveler. "That is the rare display of anthropological plug hats."

"Some people arrange to get to Japan in cherry blossom season, and others want to get there in time to receive an invitation to the emperor's garden party in chrysanthemum time; but take the tip of one who has batted about the world considerably and land in Tokyo either on New Year's day or on the emperor's birthday. On both you can see something unique in the line of headgear."

"When Japan began to get civilized she bought all the accessories of civilization that England did not want any more. England sold her old-fashioned, out-of-date, narrow gauge railroad stock, antiquated train cars and other second-hand junk, including the then current styles of plug hat."

"The title of these days has remained the ruling fashion in Japan up to the present. Japan may build Dreadnoughts, but the plug hat of 50 years ago still retains supreme."

"Only on such rare occasions as the New Year's festivities, the emperor's birthday or possibly the racing meets at Nagasaki, near Yokohama, does the Japanese gentleman bring forth from his capbox wood chest his plug hat, a heritage from his forefathers. It may be warped with 20 summers; damp or green with the shade of antiquity, but that matters nothing."

"Once this superstructure to his wrinkled frock coat and bagged trousers is added, the Japanese gentleman feels that no dignity short of a decoration of the order of the Rising Sun can be added to his person. That crowning glory of a plug hat may settle around his ears or it may perch upon his head like half a peanut shell, but no matter; it is the hat of civilization and the badge of respectability."

"In truth out of his house looking like one of the ancient daimios still with the dignity of two swords. All that fearful day he wears this hat of ancient vintage like a crown, and in the end he stows it away in his damp-proof chest awaiting another festive occasion or held as an asset in his estate after death."

Unwise Combination.

To the mind of Mrs. Abigail Jennings there was a sort of disloyalty in admitting to any outsider that a native of Willowby could be really eccentric. As for anything beyond eccentricity, Mrs. Jennings would never have admitted it, even in the case of Miss Rachel Gregg, who was frankly called crazy by the summer visitors.

"Now, Mrs. Jennings," said one of the boarders, "do you really mean that you've never known Miss Gregg to do anything that you'd call crazy?"

"No, I haven't," said Mrs. Jennings, with a firm and unyielding expression about her prominent chin.

"Why, what do you think of her sending that bag of eggs over to the Corners to Mrs. Cole, right in the box with her laundry work, and never telling the stage-driver, and letting him throw the box right off?" inquired the summer boarder. "Mrs. Cole says there's one shiftnast she'll never be able to wear again."

"Well," said Mrs. Jennings, calmly, "I should say about that as I have about a number of little things Rachel does and has done. She may lack in wisdom and forethought now and again—but then, who doesn't, I'd like to know?"—Youth's Companion.

Making It Measure Down.

In these days when only the rich criminal or suspect is accorded much space in the newspapers it may be a relief to the predatory rich to have the fact recalled that the blessed middle class may also produce dishonesty. A policeman tells this story:

"Before I returned and went on the force I was clerking in a small store. One day an Italian woman came in. She held a string in her hand, a long string, and said that she wanted a blanket of the same length. I went through our stock and found that the longest blanket we had was six inches too short. In the midst of my search the boss came up.

"What's the matter?" he said.

"I told him."

"That's easy," said he. "I'll talk to her and keep her busy while you cut off the string."

The honest copper swears that he would not be an active party to such a trick, but whatever was done the woman soon left the store with a blanket and string of equal length.—San Francisco Call.

Took No Chances.

He had proposed, but she had given him the friendlier hint—sweepingly; but five minutes later they were busy swapping kisses.

"But if you really and truly loved me, why did you turn me down at first?" queried the puzzled young man.

"Oh, that was just a whim of mine," she replied, "I wanted to see how you would act."

"But suppose I had rushed off without giving you a chance to explain?" he said.

"Impossible," she answered. "I had the dear locked."

WOULD ACCEPT RENOMINATION.

Hughes' Answer to Inquiries
Regarding Governorship.

A PRIVILEGE AND A DUTY.

Believes That Certain Policies For Which He Is Sponsor Can Be Better Carried Out If He Is Elected For Second Term—Personal Reasons Which Prompted Him to Say Privately He Did Not Desire Renomination Are Not Controlling.

Saratoga Spa, N. Y., July 25.—Governor Hughes last night issued a statement to the effect that he is willing to waive the personal reasons which have impelled him to say privately that he could not consider another term as governor, and if renominated will accept and stand for reelection. He said:

"I have received so many inquiries as to my attitude toward a renomination that I have decided to make the following statement:

"Some time ago I said privately that I did not desire a renomination and that I felt that I could not undertake to serve a second term. This, however, was for reasons entirely personal. Upon further reflection I am convinced that I have no right to regard these reasons as controlling, and that if renominated I ought to accept.

"But it is my desire that the will of the party to which I belong should be freely expressed and that I shall take such action as shall be most closely in accord with public sentiment. I believe that the people thoroughly understand the principles which I have sought to apply in administration, and if they so desire, I regard it as a privilege and a duty to continue in office for another term."

Aside from the statement, the governor declined to make further comment for publication, but he made it clear that he thinks the policies he has pursued since he assumed office on Jan. 1, 1907, should be continued. As he is sponsor for them, many of the governor's friends have expressed the opinion in letters to him that they can be carried out better if he is elected for another term.

It is known that he has received many letters from various parts of the state, urging him to accept a renomination. These letters declare that if he declines to be a candidate for renomination the public sentiment which they say has been created for these policies is liable to evaporate. He takes the position that he cannot abandon these policies out of selfish and personal reasons.

The governor made it clear that the decision that he reached was not due to any reluctance on his part. He feels that he has fulfilled the promises made in his telegram to the Republican state convention after his nomination, and in his campaign speeches, that his administration would be free from so-called bossism and not conducted for any private interests. He is especially interested in the statutes placed upon the books during his administration, notably the anti-trust track gambling laws and the public service commission laws.

In making the announcement defining his position, the governor felt that it was due those interested in the coming Republican state convention that he should make known his attitude regarding his renomination.

The governor was asked if he believed the so-called policies could have been successfully carried out if he had been nominated for the presidency. He declined to discuss the matter, but he left the impression that if he had been nominated and elected president he could have continued many of his policies from a national standpoint and they would have had considerable influence not only in this state, but in other states.

"IT" CHAPIN IS ELECTED.

Chicago, July 25.—Engineer W. Chapin, presidential nominee of the Prohibition party, discussed campaign issues as they bear on the Prohibition platform in nine towns adjacent to Chicago yesterday. "If I am elected President of the United States," he said in one of his speeches, "I will have a congress which will pass a prohibitory law, and if there are any communities that refuse to obey the law, and the civil authorities are unable to enforce it, I shall use the power conferred upon me by the constitution and call out the militia, the standing army and the navy, and enforce prohibition on every inch of territory under the American flag."

MYSTERY CLEARED UP.

Uxbridge, Mass., July 25.—The body of Ernest Lebeck, who disappeared in the spring of 1907, was found behind a wall off the Douglas road yesterday. The body was in a bad state of decomposition. One of the strongest points of identification was an unusually perfect set of teeth for which Lebeck was noted. The clothing was also identified as that worn by the man when last seen. The man's suspenders were tied tightly around the neck of the body, which is taken to indicate that the man probably committed suicide. A pocket-book found on the body full of papers when picked up, contained fragments of a $10 gold certificate and some small change.

HIBERNIANS ELECT OFFICERS.

Matthew Cummings of Boston Is Again Chosen as Head of the Order.

Indianapolis, July 25.—The adoption of strong resolutions looking toward the extension of the influence of the Roman Catholic church in the United States and Canada, and the election of officers occupied the time of the convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians yesterday and last night. The administration ticket, headed by President Cummings, was successful with the exception of National Secretary Carroll. It was stated that Carroll had worked against the election of Cummings, and for this he was displaced by Cummings' men. The following officers were elected:

President, Matthew Cummings, Boston; vice president, J. J. Reagan, St. Paul; secretary, J. T. McGinnis, Scranton; treasurer, J. P. Quinn, Joliet, Ill. Five directors were also chosen. Cummings had an opponent for reelection, former President Dolan of New York. Cummings was successful by a vote of 273 to 173. Carroll received 181 votes, to 261 for McGinnis.

ON THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM.

Prince of Wales Reviews
Troops, Sailors and Marines.

Quebec, July 25.—The Prince of Wales has had another day of strenuous activity, beginning with a grand review of the troops, sailors and marines on the Plains of Abraham, then officiating as the title deeds of this historic battlefield were turned over as a permanent memorial, between times attending gala luncheons and dinners and finally last night mingling with the gay throngs at the state ball at the parliament buildings.

The prince is besting his part in these functions with all the dignity and good nature of his royal father, shifting his uniforms from admiral to field marshal and then to a plain and well-groomed English gentleman, and at ways awakening the enthusiastic cheers of the crowd whenever he appears.

The grand review of the military and naval forces was the spectacular feature of the day. The force assembled on the Plains far exceeded the armies of Wolfe and Montcalm, which fought for mastery of the same grounds, the aggregate yesterday numbering 23,000, while the spectators raised the assemblage to upwards of 50,000.

Spread out over the plain were the troops and bluejackets, a glittering assemblage of redcoats, grenadiers, highlanders and the mounted cavalry forces of the northwest. The 500 American sailors and marines from the New Hampshire showed to good advantage, their steady marching winning a full share of cheers.

After the review the prince formally transferred the battlefield to the governor general as a lasting public memorial. Heretofore it has been owned in parcels by private parties, but the prince's dedication passes it over to the government.

DENTISTS INVADE BOSTON.

Boston, July 25.—Dentists from all parts of the United States have invaded Boston and begun a long series of meetings. The National Association of Dental Examiners, the National Association of Dental Faculties and the National Dental Association constitute the International Dental Fraternity of the United States and Canada. Delegates from eighteen states and forty colleges, numbering over 3000 dentists, are here.

DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

Philadelphia, July 25.—After choking Joseph A. Vaughn, a bank robber, and robbing him of $1000 on a Chestnut street trolley car, a man whose identity is unknown dashed through the car and, leaping to the street, made good his escape. Last night the wallet in which the stolen money was enclosed was found in a liquor street saloon. The money was missing, but checks amounting to $625 were found in the wallet.

VAN RENSSALAER IS SANE.

New York, July 25.—John A. Van Rensselaer, a member of one of the oldest New York families, who was arrested several days ago, charged with sending a threatening letter to his mother at Newport, R. I., and sent to Bellevue hospital for observation, has been adjudged sane. Van Rensselaer will be sent back to the Tombs for final disposition of the case.

TO BLOW UP THE MENAWA.

Newport, R. I., July 25.—Schroeder Menawa, which was struck by the president's yacht Mayflower early Wednesday morning, is floating becalmed in Long Island sound, about seven miles off Pauline's Island. The torpedo boat Gwin was sent out with orders to destroy the derelict, which is considered a menace to navigation.

THE BUSINESS WORLD.

New York, July 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, says that industrial plants are gradually enlarging the percentage of native machinery, furnishing more work for wage earners, which stimulates retail trade, while favorable crop progress strengthens confidence in a continuance of recovery in business.

HAYES AWARDED THE MARATHON.

Speedy Italian Runner Was Assisted at the Finish.

A MOST THRILLING EVENT.

Dorando Was Practically Delirious and Floundered Along, Being Assisted by Track Officials, Contrary to Rules of the Race—Four Americans Among the First Ten Men to Reach the Coveted Goal.

London, July 25.—America scored a world triumph here when John J. Hayes of the Irish-American Athletic club won the famous Marathon run after one of the most sensational races seen since the days of ancient Athens.

Not only did the American beat the Italian, Longhorn, who was forced to quit near the twenty-mile mark, but so hot was the pace that the best English could do was to land a man in twelfth place.

Such was the shattering of Britain's boasted prestige in long distance running and testing from her shoulders of the mantle of victory which England was supremely confident of retaining.

The American protest against Dorando for receiving assistance at the finish of the race was upheld. "This makes John F. Hayes the winner of this world famous event."

It was an American day and the sentiments of Thursday, which rankled strongly in the breasts of Americans here when they came to the stadium yesterday afternoon, were forgotten not only in the victory of John F. Hayes, the Irish-American A. C. runner, but in the splendid record made by the other Americans who were well to the front among those who finished.

Since the beginning of the Olympic games the great rivalry has been between England and America and, while the minor competitions on the track and field, in which the two nations specialized, were fought out, Englishmen consoling themselves for all the American successes by the thought that in the domain of long distance running they had always been supreme, and whatever prizes they failed to grasp in this department the colonists would pick up.

Fifty-eight men, whittened from the best runners of four continents, competed in the Marathon race. The second may be told briefly. Six Americans started in the race and nine English runners. Of the first ten men to reach the coveted goal four were Americans, and they are officially placed as follows: Hayes, first; Joseph Forsshaw, Missouri A. C.; John A. W. Weston, Lawrence, Y. M. C. A.; fourth, and Lewis Twining, the Carlisle Indian, fifth. The second man was Henderson of South Africa. He was the oldest among the runners, being 34 years old, and he kept up a remarkable pace almost to the end of twenty-six miles of the struggle, but Hayes was the better man.

It is considered generally that the race is not only a triumph for the United States, but in larger sense, for America, because seven of the leaders at the end were from North America. The three Canadians, Wood, Simpson and Lawson, finished in fifth, sixth and seventh places respectively, and with the representatives of the United States deprived England of its claim to leadership in the long distance running branch of athletics.

It will not stretch any laurels from the brow of Hayes, who won a good race, to say that the hero of the day was the Italian, Dorando. The admiration and sympathy of every person in the stadium went out to the gallant Italian who did more within the limit of his powers than any other man who ran. The crisis in a battle on which the life of a nation hung could hardly have been more impressive than Dorando's entrance into the stadium. Ten minutes before the megaphone announced "the runners are in sight," guns had proclaimed the arrival of the leaders at the nearest station of the course; an intense silence overhung the stadium, while the thousands awaited breathlessly the approach of the first man.

For ten minutes all eyes were focused on the gate, almost directly opposite the royal stand, where the contestants were to enter. Finally a runner staggered down the incline leading to the track. He was clothed in a white shirt and red knee trousers. He stood for a moment as though dazed, and then turned to the left, although a red cord had been drawn about the track in the opposite direction for the runners to follow. It was evident at once to everyone that the man was practically delirious.

A squad of officials ran out and expostulated with him, but apparently he was afraid that they were trying to deceive him and fought to go on to the left. At length he turned about and started on the right path along the track.

The colors and the number told the spectators that it was Dorando, and his name was on every lip. He staggered along the outer path like a man in a dream, his gait being neither a walk nor a run, but simply a flounder, his arms working and his legs tottering. By devious ways he staggered onward, with his head so bent forward that his chin rested on his chest, toward the turn, and dropped to the ground.

It was evident that the man had run to the very limit of his endurance. None expected to see him rise.

According to the rules of the race, physicians should have taken him away, but the track officials lifted him to his feet and with their hands at his back gave him support. Four times Dorando fell in the 300 yards that separated him from the finish and three times, after the doctors had poured stimulants down his throat, he was immediately a crowd swarmed about dragged to his feet. Finally he was pushed across the line, one man being at his back and another holding him by the arm.

His part in the race was practically ended when he entered the stadium, for had he not received assistance he could not have finished.

While this pathetic scene was being enacted Hayes entered the stadium comparatively fresh and rested around it. He came in less than a minute behind Dorando, but in the excitement of the moment failed to get even from his own countrymen, the reception he deserved. Hayes' time was 2 hours, 55 minutes, 18 seconds.

SIX SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST.

But One Identified as Being Concerned In Hub Shootup.

Boston, July 25.—As the afternoon of the shooting up of Jamaica Plain last Tuesday and Wednesday nights, when two men were killed and a dozen others injured, and one of the three or four handily was shot dead in Forest Hills cemetery Thursday morning by Boston policemen, the police of the Jamaica Plain division are holding six suspects, none of whom, with the possible exception of one, have been positively identified as being concerned in the affray.

The Italian arrested on Wednesday has been identified by one or two of the patrons of the saloon shot up Tuesday night as one of the men concerned in that affair. No one has been found, however, who will identify as having been concerned in the shooting Hugh McEloughlin, Desquie Sepa, Francesco A. Speduto, an Italian who was arrested and had unmarked papers on his person, or A. Wells, aged 17 years, of New York.

There is little change in the condition of the more seriously wounded, and with the possible exception of Thomas Doran and Officer McMahon, all will recover.

BRYAN OFF FOR CHICAGO.

Omaha, July 25.—W. J. Bryan has left Lincoln for Chicago. He was accompanied by former Governor Osborne of Wyoming and a corps of newspaper correspondents. Although protesting that this was not a speaking trip, Bryan was induced to mount a baggage truck at the station here and address the crowd during the fifteen minutes the train remained here.

GUESTS HAD CLOSE CALL.

Charlotte, N. C., July 25.—Lightning struck the big hotel at Vade Mecum Springs and started a fire which soon reduced the structure to ashes. Many of the guests barely escaped with their lives and many of them lost their personal effects. No estimate of the loss is obtainable.

WALKER IS BROUGHT BACK.

Absconding Bank Treasurer
In Lockup at Hartford.

INTENDS TO PLEAD GUILTY.

Says He Put the Thousands of Dollars Which He Stole Into What He Considered a Good Investment—Had but One Dollar and Ten Cents When Arrested in Mining Camp In Mexico—Shows That He Fools His Disgrace.

Hartford, July 25.—William F. Walker, who embezzled $500,000 from the Savings Bank of New Britain and about $50,000 from the Connecticut Baptist convention, reached this city last night in the custody of Superintendent Egan of the state police department and Assistant Superintendent Hoffman of the Pinkerton detective agency in Los Angeles, Cal., the man who arrested Walker in a mining camp about 100 miles south of Escondido, Mex.

Walker was locked in the steel cage of the county building for the night under the guard of five officers and he will be brought before Judge Shumway in the supreme court today. On his way east with the detectives Walker told them that he would plead guilty when arraigned.

Walker refused to tell what he had done with the money, saying that he put it into what he considered to be a good investment, his judgment being based on a long experience as a successful banker. Walker was poorly clad and he said that he alone was responsible for the crime he had committed. "The men to whom he gave the money he met in New York at three different hotels. He said he would not have sought extradition for the fact that he did not want to bring additional trouble on his family and relatives, and had he only himself to consider he would have returned without opposition as soon as arrested."

Walker absconded from New Britain on Feb. 8, 1907, and was arrested in Mexico on Dec. 10 of the same year. His flight against extradition has delayed his being brought to this state until now. Walker said that he has no lawyer and that he expects to have none, and that as a matter of justice to himself he should first make a full statement to the prosecuting officer of the court.

In conversation and in silent moments Walker shows that he feels his disgrace. He had but $1.10 when arrested and in the trip east he had been in the same private compartment in the Pullman until Springfield was reached. The only time he left the compartment was when he went to the dining car for meals. The Pullman was run through without change.

Since he had absconded he said that he had heard nothing from any of his friends or relatives except his wife, and that he had seen but one newspaper that had made mention of his crime. He said that when he left home on Feb. 8, 1907, he attempted to return, but he lost his senses in New York about noon on Feb. 9 and the next he remembers is when he came to realizing sense of what he had done in a small town in Nevada, a short distance from Tonopah. He had been in Escondido since May, 1907, he said.

DAY OF HANDSHAKING.

New York, July 25.—The Republican leaders of the city were fully alive to their opportunity yesterday to make the personal acquaintance of their candidate for the presidency, and when Mr. Taft began his journey to Cincinnati he had shaken the hand of practically every district leader in Greater New York, a number of state leaders, and had had conversations with politicians of varying degrees of prominence to the number of several hundred.

2000 MILES BY WIRELESS.

San Diego, Cal., July 25.—The government wireless station at Point Loma was in communication with Admiral Sperry's flagship, Conqueror, of the Atlantic fleet, shortly after midnight. This is believed to be a record distance for wireless communication on the Pacific. The battleship reported all well on board. The distance over which the communication was had is figured at about 2000 miles.

ROBBED BY HANDS.

Boston, July 25.—At 11 o'clock last night, Arthur Kline, a blackman, while taking a fare to Milton, was stopped on Bradley road by two foreigners. One of the highwaymen, with drawn revolver, told him to hold up his hands. He was forced to hand over all the money in his possession, $24 in all. Then the men made off in the darkness. When King looked for his fare, he, too, had disappeared.

TANDEM STRUCK AUTOMOBILE.

New York, July 25.—Richard Grube, 12 years old, and Arthur Cohen, 11, were racing an automobile in Jersey City last night on a tandem bicycle when the wheel swerved into the automobile. The boys were thrown into the path of the swift moving machine and it ran over them. Grube was killed almost instantly and Cohen received probably fatal injuries.

CONSTITUTION FOR TURKEY.

The Sultan Is Finally Forced to Reform His Government.

Constantinople, July 25.—After thirty-two years of autocratic rule under Sultan Abdul Hamid II, Turkey again has been granted a constitution. An imperial decree was issued yesterday ordering that a chamber of deputies be assembled. This present constitution is practically a restoration of the one proclaimed Dec. 23, 1876, by the present sultan, immediately following his elevation to the sultanate after the violent death of Sultan Abdul Aziz on June 4 of that year and the deposition of Sultan Murad V on Aug. 31, 1876.

This action on the part of the sultan, which came as a complete surprise to all observers of the progress of events in Turkey, was wrested from him by the Young Turks, a political party that has been working for a good many years for the establishment of a constitutional government in the realm of the sultan.

Last fall the young Turks and representatives of the various races and creeds in Macedonia met in Paris and decided to concentrate their energies on bringing about a government for Turkey that should be modeled on the western system. The Young Turks succeeded in winning over 90 percent of the Turkish army officers to their cause. This was cutting the ground out from under the sultan's feet. When the sultan learned that the wild people of the Albanian country would support him no longer, but had joined the liberal movement and were calling loudly for constitutional reform, he suddenly decided to bow to the inevitable rather than face the alternative, a revolutionary outbreak throughout all Macedonia.

MODUS VIVENDI IS EXTENDED.

Fisheries Case Goes to the Hague For Settlement.

Washington, July 25.—A continuation of the present modus vivendi governing the Newfoundland fisheries and the rights of American fishermen there, has been agreed upon as a result of correspondence between the state department and the British foreign office. By this means freedom over the acts of American fishermen in Newfoundland waters will be avoided, pending a settlement of the whole question before The Hague tribunal.

A distinct advantage is to be found in the continuation at this time of last year's modus vivendi, because it is an obligatory of the fishing season which begins in August, and hence removes ground for serious complications which are constantly apt to arise in the absence of any well-defined understanding and agreement covering the fisheries.

Last year's modus vivendi was not ratified until Sept. 1, after a long correspondence between the state department and the foreign office at London, and there always was fear that some clash would occur pending its ratification. It is understood that the modus extended by Mr. Beld and the British foreign office is in precisely the same terms of that of last year. That the agreement worked apparently very satisfactorily.

IMPORTANT EXPERIMENTS.

Berlin, July 25.—The new military airship made an ascent last evening for the purpose of making experiments in wireless telegraphy. The experiments were very successful at a height of 600 feet. It had been feared that danger existed in electric waves generated in close proximity to an airship, it being thought that they might interfere with the gas.

LOST FISHERMEN SAVED.

Hullfax, July 25.—Completely exhausted, having been without food or water for two days, two Gloucester fishermen, Nell Hawley and Alfonso Hawley, both of the American schooner Senator, who strayed away from their vessel in a fog on the Banks, were picked up by the Spanish training ship Nautilus and brought to Hullfax.

HEARST AS CHAIRMAN.

Chicago, July 25.—The subcommittee of the Independent party here named temporary officers for the coming national convention of that party as follows: Temporary chairman, W. R. Hearst of New York; temporary secretary, W. A. De Ford, New York; secretaries-at-large, Frank Baum, Ill.

HELD WITHOUT BAIL.

New York, July 25.—Charged with killing Barbara Baker, who was found dead in the shelter house at Irving park, William Lang, Tuesday night, Policeman David Sheehan was held without bail. He will be given a hearing on July 29.

A BATTLE WITH INDIANS.

Tucson, Ariz., July 25.—In a desperate battle between Mexican troops and Papago Indians at the Imunahua Ranch, in the Altar district of Sonora, thirty or forty Indians and two soldiers were killed and two soldiers were wounded.

SOME BATTLESHIP THOUGHTS

If John Paul Jones could come to life and visit Portsmouth, what would he think?

The old admiral would probably be nearly feazed than when he was nearly feazed from a burning ship. He had brains enough and no doubt he would know what it is like to be in these mechanical devices. The first class battleship would be mighty interesting to him.

Do you like to have him explain the situation and then ask him what he thinks of the navy? He would be a wave of cheerfulness across his fierce weather-beaten face. A man ought to get some inspiration from just thinking of a ship like this.

Portsmouth has changed since Jones was here, but we hope his spirit will hover over the scene. In August 8, when the people of the state that he knew present the silver service to the battleship named for the state.

Things are different from what they were when America's first admiral went shuffling about the neighborhood in order to find men to put on his old wind-driven wooden fighters, and he would like it.

But the real force which wins battles today is the men behind the equipment. A good man should have good tools, and good tools do their right work only when handled by good men.

The man like Paul Jones, the forceful, incandescent intelligent leader of men, is still the need of our navy. New Hampshire has provided men of that kind. Let the new battleship be an inspiration for the providing of more.

BIRD'S-EYE VIEWS

What a child "the faithful" received from the mention of ex-Governor William L. Douglas of Massachusetts for chairman of the Democratic national committee. When he ran for governor he spent the campaign fund in newspaper advertising instead of hiring workers. "The faithful" felt better when he said he wouldn't take it if it were offered to him.

Gardner, Mr., holds a record. The city had a first class Fourth of July celebration and the treasurer of the celebration reports $600 surplus which, by agreement, goes to the board of trade.

"Better bread making would lead to fewer divorces," said Dr. H. M. Wiley of the government's "poison squad," who addressed the American Biscuit Makers' Association at Atlantic City. "Good bread, in my opinion," he added, "would help to solve the American evil of divorce." That comes pretty near to the famous advice that the way to keep a husband contented is to "Feed the brute."

The Eastern trunk line railroad presidents have postponed the anticipated raise of freight rates.

Rev. Fr. John A. Belford says his first mass Sunday at the Catholic church in Iaconia, where he was baptized and later served as head altar boy.

The city employees at South Common, Nashua were about to tear up a large maple tree last spring and consign it to the discard as it was necessary to remove it in leveling the common, and it was thought to be too large to replant. Mrs. Rev. W. Hooper, a neighbor, however, prevailed upon the men to try resetting it, with the result that it has flourished beautifully.

The recent heavy rains have, in no wise raised the water in the Nashua river, and the textile mills of Nashua are still dependent on steam to run their plants. So great was the drought that the rainfall was entirely soaked up by the ground.

Benjamin Brerley, for thirty-eight years connected with the Cocheco Print works at Dover, has resigned his position as boss printer, his connection with the works coming to an end Friday. Farrell Coyle of North Adams, formerly with the Windsor Print works, will succeed Mr. Brerley. Mr. Brerley, although considering some flattering offers, will for the present rest up in Stratham, where he has a stock farm.

A stone has been erected in Pine Grove cemetery, East Concord, to the memory of Richard Potter, one of the pioneers in that section. He came to Oak farm on Potter street in 1771, became a soldier in 1775 and served with General Sullivan. With his brother Ephraim, his nephew, Anthony, and others, he was commended for serving double time in the campaign around Boston. His descendants have always occupied the land where he built his first log cabin, among them being Gen. Joseph H. Potter, Franklin Pierce Potter and Judge Alvin K. Potter, the last named now using Oak farm as a summer residence. In excavating recently for a new wall to the house, the workmen came upon the foundation of the old building, which was put up in 1799, and they are now embodied in the new structure.

Harry Sargent, manager of the hotel at West Lebanon, and manager and owner of the Lake View Hotel at Moseona Lake, has been taken to Haverhill jail by Deputy Sheriff George H. Stearns, to serve a sixty days' suspended sentence, given him two years ago and suspended. The charge was the keeping of liquor for sale. The imprisonment follows a raid at which a wagon load of wet goods was found.

OUR EXCHANGES

Some Southern Democratic Work

The principle which Roger Williams consciously prescribed and practiced, that even an Indian is entitled to a square deal in a land transaction, has been violated in Oklahoma, according to the Government's charges. The rights of the plain people, which the framers of the Oklahoma Constitution were so anxious to safeguard, possibly are not presumed to include the rights of red-skinned people.—Providence Journal.

Not an Issue

Anti-imperialism is not an issue in this country, it is only a whine. It is exceedingly difficult to imagine a brown man sitting down to examine Mr. Bryan's Philippine plank, and then, after comparing it with Mr. Taft's Philippine plank, solemnly making up their minds to vote for Mr. Bryan. Anti-imperialism would not sustain conversation in a ladies' sewing society for fifteen minutes. A men's debating club would go to sleep under it. And what would these one souls have done had Mr. Bryan really succeeded in his frantic endeavors to get the nomination as Vice-President for George Gray, who, as Peace Commissioner at Paris, signed the treaty that gave us the Philippines?—New York Times.

Baby won't suffer five minutes with' croup if you apply Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil at once. It acts like magic.

Good Things To Eat

NUMBER SIX

ROAST PORK, APPLE GARNISH.

Select six pounds of loin or ribs and wipe over with a cloth wrung from cold water because the meat may have been exposed to dust or have been handled much at the market. Rub it over with salt and pepper and a little mixed seasoning herbs which will give it a savory flavor. Dredge well with flour, place on a rack in a dripping pan; dredge more flour into the pan and set in a moderate oven. Pork does not require so hot an oven as beef, but must be thoroughly cooked to be healthful. Bake about two hours and baste once in fifteen minutes with the fat in the pan. If water is added to the pan the steam will prevent a crisp coating forming over the meat. If the oven is too hot the meat will become dry and hard, the fat will scorch, and the flour will burn in the pan and spoil the gravy.

To make the gravy pour off part of the fat, add to the contents of the pan an equal measure of flour and stir until well browned; add water to make a smooth mass and cook five or six minutes, then season to taste with salt and pepper and strain.

Paré, core and cut in rings some sweet apples and cook in a syrup made from one cup of molasses to two of water. Cook a long time or until of a dark color and use as a garnish for the pork.

ALICE E. WHITTAKER.

MEXICAN BAND

It Was Organized by a Nephew of the Great President Diaz

It is generally conceded that the finest of all Mexican bands is the Banda De Policia, which is an organization of ninety-seven musicians. The word "policia" in Mexican has a somewhat different meaning from the American "police." The policia of Mexico are the rural soldiers or "Rurals" as they are called and their duties are much the same as our militia. The Banda De Policia was organized by Sr. Felix Diaz, a nephew of Mexico's greatest president, Sr. Porfirio Diaz. At its inception the government appropriated $50,000 for the purchase of band instruments.

Sr. Preza, a born leader and a composer of rare ability was placed at the head of the band. The members of the band are regularly enlisted men and military discipline is rigidly maintained. Rehearsals are held every afternoon and last three hours. Concerts are given every night during the season in the largest public squares of the City of Mexico.

The Banda De Policia is to be the big musical feature of the New England Food Fair and House Furnishing Exposition at McGowan's Building next October. It comes by invitation, for money would not tempt the Mexican government to grant permission. With it will come the greatest exhibit of industrialists that Mexico has ever sent out. The twenty-two states of the nation will all contribute to the exhibition. Among the interesting things which the government will send will be a large model of the new National Opera House, now in process of construction in the City of Mexico.

TO CATCH FEWER TROUT

Fish and Game Commissioners' Advice for Southern New Hampshire

In the annual report of the fish and game commissioners of New Hampshire just submitted to the governor and council, are contained some very important and pertinent recommendations.

One of the most noteworthy is that advocating the shortening of the brook trout season in the southern part of the state one month, making the open season read from April 1 to July 1 in the counties of Merrimack, Cheshire, Hillsborough and Rockingham.

The commissioners also favor the passage of a law confining each angler to so many brook trout per day. Twenty-five or thirty trout are suggested as a reasonable catch. Among many other suggestions is a recommendation for requiring a resident hunter's license of one dollar, and for the destruction of goshawks, red squirrels and cats.

IN OLD CY'S HONOR

An All Star Team Will Play in Ben-Int Game

Chicago advices say President Ban B. Johnson announced upon his return from a tour of the eastern cities of the American league that plans were laid under way for an all-star American league team to oppose the Boston Americans in an Cy Young's day in Boston, Aug. 13. The team Johnson is anxious to see placed in the field as a testimonial to the world's greatest pitcher of today would be made up of Kleinow and Schmidt, catchers; Donovan and Joss, pitchers; Chase first base; LaJole second base; Bradley third base; Elberfeld, shortstop; Cobb, Crawford and Keeler, outfielders.

Stimulated Plants.

If unthrifty plants and those developing blossoms are watered once in two weeks with water in which nitrate of soda has been dissolved, in the proportion of a teaspoonful to a quart of water, they will "just boom." The soda is more of a stimulant than a complete food, and for this reason should be supplemented with some sort of food; but to start a sickly plant into new life it has no equal.

Habana vs. Havana.

"Havana is a spit with a 'B' on genuine imported cigar boxes and with a 'V' in the case of home-made cigars," explained a tobaccoist presented at Cardiff recently, for selling British cigars as Havana. The magistrate agreed that the custom prevailed and inflicted a nominal fine.—London Daily Mail.

Not Prejudicial.

It is not sufficient ground for reversing a conviction of murder that, on the retrial of the jury, the deputy prosecutor playfully kicked one of the jurors and the latter turned round and in a friendly manner shook his fist in the deputy prosecutor's face. Troubley vs. State (Ind.), 78 N. E. Rep. 975.—From Law Notes.

St. Edmund.

The vacant space in the crypt of Westminster Cathedral, London, close by the spot where rest the mortal remains of Cardinal Wiseman and Cardinal Manning, is soon to be occupied by an altar dedicated to St. Edmund at Canterbury, the last canonized archbishop.

A Beauty Note.

Deep frowning lines between the eyes give an expression of discontent, and the moment such lines appear a woman should begin to examine closely not her eyes, but her heart, for the feelings which spring from the heart quickly find expression in the eyes.

Embarrassment of Personalities. A Boston physician tells the American Medical Association he has found six distinct personalities in one young woman. Imagine the embarrassment of an earnest young man who devotes himself to one girl and finds he has won six!

WORK WANTED

Old jobs of all description, such as heating carpets, sawing wood, caring for cemetery lots, preparing and planting gardens, and trimming bushes a specialty, wanted by a reliable man. Orders can be left at No. 27 South street or telephoned to Tel. Number 3193 and they will receive prompt attention.

WILLIAM P. GARDNER, 27 South street.

NOTICE

Members of Union Rebekah Lodge will meet at 1, D. O. F. Hall, Sunday, at 1:30 p. m. to attend the funeral of our Sister Lizzie Aldrich.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Mrs. Ellen Lowd will be held at the home on Wentworth street Sunday afternoon at 2:30. Friends are invited.

BOX 14

Rang in on Friday Afternoon for Fire on Deer Street

An alarm of fire was sent in from Box 14 shortly after four o'clock Friday afternoon, for a fire on the roof of an Italian bakery on Deer street. The fire was a slight one and the damage was small.

YORK BEACH AGAIN WINS

The York Beach team defeated a team from Portsmouth in a good game of baseball on Friday at the Beach. The local team had Leary and Haggerty as battery and Leary held the hard hitting college players down to nine hits.

The city council are going right ahead with the play ground proposition and they will have the grounds in good condition by fall. It is good work and should be continued.

4 NOTRE DAME LADY'S APPEAL.

To all knowing sufferers of rheumatism, whether muscular or of the joints, sciatica, lumbago, headache, pains in the kidneys or neuralgia, please to write to her for a home treatment which has repeatedly cured all of these troubles. She does it her duty to send it to all sufferers FREE. You cure yourself at home as thousands will testify—no change of climate being necessary. This simple discovery business is sold from the home, because the patient can purify the blood, and brighten the eyes, give electricity and tone to the whole system. If the above interests you, for proof address Mrs. M. Summers, Box 14, Notre Dame, Ind.

Many beautiful presents were received. Mr. Junkins entertained the party with selections on his phonograph, etc., and after refreshments were served the party, all acknowledging a very pleasant evening, returned home at a late hour.

Kittery Point

The three-masted schooner Harold G. Bercker, which sank in Pigeon Cove Monday while bound in a soft coal from Philadelphia, was floated Friday after her cargo had been lightered and the holes in her bottom patched with canvas. The tug Portsmouth is to tow a Rockland line barge from Newburyport to Rockland, and it is thought may look on to the Bercker at the same time and tow her to Belfast for repairs, when the weather clears.

Hake and whiting are being caught in enormous quantities in the harbor and dozens of small boats are seen on the grounds every day. The vicinity of Fishing Island ledge is most frequented. The fish are used mainly for lobster bait.

One of the longest stretches of pipe to any private residence in the Kittery water district will lead to the summer cottage of Fred Hollins on Moore's Island. The distance from the main is just 1250 feet.

The tug Lehigh, which put in here for shelter Thursday with the barges Black Tom and Borden, lost the barge Buffalo of her tow earlier in the trip in Long Island Sound. The Buffalo has made many trips to this port.

Fewer yachts than for many years are in commission along the northern coast this summer, and the scarcity is easily noticed here. The only ones now in port are the schooner Ada, Frederic H. Scavay of Boston, and the sloop Golden Rod, Mr. Harriman of New York, and Valkyrie, A. D. F. Hamilton of New York. The Valkyrie arrived this morning from Rockport, where she had been for bound since leaving the Kenah, Loma and Wave Crest, which arrived home Tuesday.

Vessels now on route to this port include the schooners George P. Hudson, George E. Kline, Robert H. McCurdy, Ada J. Campbell, Georgietta and barge Langhorne. The long continued foggy weather precludes all quick passages.

The five-masted schooner Mary W. Bowen, Capt. Chase from Norfolk with 3500 tons of coal, was towed in out of the fog Friday night by the tug M. Mitchell Davis. This is the Bowen's first visit to this port.

Schooner William H. Clifford, which has been laid up here for two weeks past, sailed this morning for Sargentville, Me., to load ice for Baltimore, while the James W. Paul, Jr., and Marie Palmer, which have been here several months in illness, left for Norfolk and Baltimore respectively. The Paul loads for San Juan, P. R., and the Palmer is to bring another cargo of coal to Portsmouth.

The W. C. T. U. met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Morton M. Seaward.

Frank W. Claves has been called to his former home in Sargentville, Me., by the severe illness of his brother.

Sergeant and Mrs. Littlejohn, who were married in Rockport last week, will reside on Otis avenue, Kittery.

Mrs. Harry Gatchell of Berwick visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Gatchell Friday.

Miss Lulu M. Mitchell and Winfield L. Tooley will be married Thursday, Aug. 6.

Mrs. Frank Nye, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest C. Tooley, has returned to her home in Boston.

Miss Ada Foye of Brockton, Mass., has returned home after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Noah E. Emery.

Capt. George T. Murray of the schooner Mary E. H. G. Dow, who died at Vineyard Haven last week, was well known here. He resided in Boothbay and was sixty years of age.

Mr. Peabody, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Dodge, has returned to his home in Salem, Mass.

Headaches

are brain signals that your system is in some way disorganized and unless the cause of the trouble is removed they will become more and more frequent, and gradually increase both in duration and intensity. THE WEATHER

Portsmouth has been getting cloudy, showery weather today, just as the government officials predicted. The prediction is for cloudy weather with scattered showers through tomorrow.
The two o'clock thermometer reading at the Herald office was seventy-six degrees.

CITY BRIEFS

The West has nothing on Boston. The first had Saturday for several weeks.

Where is the oil that was to be sprinkled on the streets?

The new cricket club has a star aggregation in its lineup.

Dog days begin with weather that is properly called seasonable.

The Rye Beach life saving crew will return to duty on Saturday, Aug. 1.

The Little Bowery Association is looking for a medal for one of its great orators.

LOST—A good sized dark fawn male kitten. Return to 79 Summer street and receive reward.

Quamphagan Park base ball Saturday July 25, Cochocho vs. Salmon Falls. Game called at 3 o'clock.

Locust trees especially show the effect of the drought, many of their leaves being withered and yellowed.

The fear is expressed that so much wet weather, after so much dry weather, may cause potatoes to rot in the ground.

Reports come from neighboring towns that many birds and small wild animals were burned to death in the recent forest fires.

The English sports are good winners but poor losers, and when they play with the Americans they must be sports as in all things take a back seat.

Thomas's Ointment cured me of gonorrhea that had annoyed me a long time. The cure was permanent. —Hon. S. W. Matthews, Chairman of Labor Statistics, Augusta, Me.

William A. Bragdon had an insurance robbery the Friday evening beside the driveway at his home in Greenland. Passengers on the gasoline trolley cars thought the buildings were afire till they got close to the spot.

Field stone is used for building purposes in many parts of the country and beautiful results are achieved with it. Wouldn't it be good to see some fieldstone houses come up in Portsmouth and vicinity. The stone here is of superior quality.

A basket picnic of the Senior Relief Corps No. 6 will be held at Stratham Hill Park Tuesday July 28th, if unpleasant Wednesday July 29th. Leave Market Square, 8:35 A. M. Exeter cars leave Plains on the four, per order of Pres. H. 125.11

The Pierce Great Arrow management refused to accept the Gildien automobile cup at Saratoga after the Pierce score had been protested by the Peerless management. So they had that great run through Portsmouth and the rest of the country for nothing.

Middle Street is finished from Carcross to State street. It is expected that another week will be required to complete the section to Richards avenue, owing to the big space about the Square, but after that a few more weeks will finish the work. It will be a credit to the city when completed.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH TO BE RENOVATED

Refurbishing Will be Done During the Vacation Time

The Court street Christian church building is to be refurbished throughout during the vacation season in August. The interiors of the auditorium and vestry will be given new coats of paint and a general brightening up. The registers will be given new locations in the side aisles and a new carpet will be laid. The pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Frank H. Gardner, will go to Portland, Mass., for the vacation weeks.

At the annual meeting of the church, Friday evening, Ralph L. Leighton was elected clerk and treasurer. Albert R. Jenkins, James R. Yeaton and George W. Shapleigh, wardens.
The annual reports showed all the year's expenses paid except a few small bills which have not been presented and money enough in the treasury to meet those.

INJURED BY ELECTRIC CAR

Woman at York Harbor Meets With Accident on Friday

Miss Anna Healey of York Harbor was struck by the running board of the six o'clock electric car from York Beach on the Atlantic Shore line railway, Friday afternoon at York Harbor.

She was walking along the side of the road and, in an attempt to clear the car in close quarters, she was thrown and thrown to the ground. Other than a scare and a little shaking up she was uninjured.

REV. H. E. HOVEY TO SPEAK

The mid-summer gathering of the Daniel Hovey Association will be held at Ipswich, the home of their honored ancestor, Daniel Hovey, on August 4.

After dinner there will be the usual literary and musical program, the principal features of which will be a recital of his experiences on the continent this year by Rev. Percy Emerson Hovey of the St. John's Episcopal church of this city.

The wild flowers are at their best. A country trolley ride proves it.

Don't Buy That New Piano

Without due consideration of the many claims of superiority possessed by those instruments we are now showing. First of all, our pianos not necessarily in quantity. A loud noise, isn't always good musical tone. Next—They are durable.

Excel in Tone Quality

Lastly—They are enclosed in artistic and well finished cases. Such pianos as the Chickering, Emerson, Packard, and Merrill should not be overlooked.

KILLED BY ELECTRIC CAR

Two Bulldogs Fighting on Deer Street Get Under the Wheels and the Fight Ends

Two large bulldogs got into a lively fight at the corner of Deer and Market streets on Friday afternoon. In the mixup the canines got under the wheels of the 5.05 p. m. electric car from Market Square where they fought just as hard as they did on the clear ground. The fight under the car was of short duration, however, as one of the dogs was cut in two and the other Carlo with a record escaped.

DANCE AT YORK

The first of a series of dances was conducted at the town hall, York Village, Friday evening. The hall was crowded with dancers the entire evening, over 100 couples being in attendance. Parties were present from nearly all the leading hotels at the Harbor and beach and everybody had a good time. Hott and Marden's novelty orchestra furnished music for dancing, which was concluded at midnight. On Friday evening next the mid-summer ball will be given in this hall under the same management.
